

CRIMINAL LAW

PROVEN LEGAL EXPERTISE

Higgs Fletcher & Mack's Criminal Law Group delivers decades of experience fighting for businesses and individual clients in federal and state courts. Our group includes the former elected District Attorney of San Diego County, the past president of the California District Attorneys Association, former special assistant U.S. attorneys, and federal public defenders.

We understand that criminal charges can have drastic professional and financial consequences. Our clients may risk losing their professional licenses and certifications as a result of a criminal investigation and conviction. Our attorneys are instrumental in protecting our clients' credentials and reputations throughout the criminal process.

HFM attorneys work within our clients' financial resources to provide the highest quality criminal defense. We explore cost-effective strategies to successfully manage criminal proceedings and administrative hearings. Because of our breadth of practice, clients receive added value and support, as our attorneys are able to draw upon the expertise of their colleagues in specialized areas of law.
