

MICHAEL R. GIBSON

For over twenty years, Mr. Gibson has represented numerous types of clients, small and large, local and international, in all types of commercial disputes.

Mr. Gibson's direct approach as a business litigator and advisor has delivered successful results in commercial, construction and real estate disputes. His balanced practice includes representation of local, national and international companies, as well as individuals. Previously, he co-chaired the San Diego County Bar Association's Construction Law Section and is a frequent speaker and author on new developments in the law and risk management.

Mr. Gibson treats each client and case as unique and believes that "one size does not fit all." He gives each case individual analysis and attention, and delivers solutions based on the distinctive aspects and details of the situation.

Outside of the courtroom, Mr. Gibson assists clients with their construction and real estate contracts, and provides advice and counsel on risk management and liability prevention. With each matter, his goal is to partner with his clients to achieve efficient, effective, and economical solutions and results.

Moreover, Mr. Gibson utilizes his over two decades of litigation experience and training when serving as a mediator helping parties find solutions to their disputes. With each mediation, he works tirelessly with the parties to exhaust all efforts to achieve resolution.

When not in the office or court, Mr. Gibson devotes time coaching youth baseball with Mid-City Little League, he was the President of the league from 2017-2019, and continues to serve on the Board of Directors. Mr. Gibson also serves on the Board of Directors for GLD Housing, Inc., a San Diego non-profit, which oversees several low-income, senior housing developments in San Diego.
