PROVEN PRODUCTS LIABILITY ATTORNEYS

The attorneys who comprise HFM's Products Liability Practice Group both direct defense and insurer representation for matters related to the defense of manufacturers, retailers and distributors in products liability and breach of warranty claims.

We offer effective, experienced litigators for a wide variety of consumer, commercial and industrial products, including automobiles and automotive products, chemicals and coatings, household appliances, industrial and electrical tools and equipment, building materials, scaffolding, food, and medical device manufacturers.

HFM serves as regional counsel for numerous local and national companies, and each of the practice group's attorneys focuses on the timely and realistic evaluation of the product claim, followed by an aggressive defense through trial or settlement, as warranted. Our approach results in an efficient and consistent approach to the defense of a manufacturer and its product.
