

GIG ECONOMY

EXPERIENCED GIG ECONOMY ATTORNEYS

The modern business landscape is evolving rapidly, and the gig economy is at the forefront of our changing work culture. With app-based service models quickly growing, our Gig Economy Team understands the critical nuances and potential legal risks unique to this gig business structure.

Higgs Fletcher & Mack's Gig Economy Practice Group was designed to assist all types of app-based companies who facilitate connections between users and service providers. Our team is comprised of accomplished attorneys, with significant experience in labor and employment law matters, immigration, tort (transportation, ride-share, and commercial general liability), and complex business litigation.

HFM's interdisciplinary approach to counseling, representing, and mitigating risk for gig economy companies means clients receive highly competent and comprehensive counsel. As the law continues to evolve with the fast pace of technology and the gig economy business model, HFM attorneys will continue to work with clients to safeguard their businesses, while also helping to develop innovative agreements, policies, and protocols to allow for future growth.
